

“All In” Early Intervention for EI Providers

Early Intervention (EI) services are provided during daily routines where children live, play, and learn. This can include early learning settings. When families, EI providers, and early care and education (ECE) professionals work together as one team, children get the best support to learn and grow. Explore this resource to learn how to collaborate, share ideas, and celebrate wins in early learning settings.

Concept

How to Be “All In”

Collaborate

Recognize the value in the ECE professional’s role and include them in Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP) meetings when the family chooses to invite them.

Reflect & Share

Ask questions and share ideas to support the child’s participation and learning.

Observe

Observe the ECE professional and child in the early learning setting and introduce strategies into naturally occurring routines.

Try It

Encourage the ECE professional to try strategies while you observe and offer feedback.

Joint Plan

Work with the ECE professional to decide what will happen between visits and what will happen during the next visit.

Communicate

Share information regularly and clearly. Update the family about what happens during visits in the early learning setting.

Celebrate

Notice and acknowledge effort and progress, big or small!

Learn More About How To Be “All In” on The Ohio Early Intervention Website

Adapted from Your Role in Partnering with Your Early Intervention Service Provider (Virginia Early Intervention Professional Development Center, n.d.), by OCALI’s Center for the Young Child in partnership with the Ohio Department of Children and Youth, April 2026.