Your Questions

What if the TPC occurs without another agency? We have always been advised a TPC must occur, even if the family chooses not to meet with the LEA or another agency? For example, if a family believes their child will be ineligible or does not want to meet with the LEA, and wants their child to simply be at home with them or will pay for therapy with insurance, I have always held a TPC to discuss ongoing options and how to contact the LEA or other agencies for help in the future. Is this no longer called a TPC? I assume the conversation should still happen...

Q: What if the TPC occurs without another agency? We have always been advised a TPC must occur, even if the family chooses not to meet with the LEA or another agency. For example, if a family believes the child will be ineligible or does not want to meet with the LEA, and wants their child to simply be at home with them or will pay for therapy with insurance, I have always held a TPC to discuss ongoing options and how to contact the LEA or other agencies for help in the future. Is this no longer called a TPC?

Scenario	Requirements
Child is suspected of being eligible for Part B. Parent consents to TPC. Parent consents to invite the LEA to the TPC.	TPC occurs during IFSP meeting. LEA is invited.
Child is not suspected of being eligible for Part B. Parent consents to TPC.	TPC occurs during the IFSP meeting. Other community providers are invited.
Parent does not consent to the TPC.	Team will develop a transition outcome but not hold the TPC.

Your Questions

I know the transition outcome is completed during a regularly scheduled IFSP review which makes sense, but can you please clarify whether an IFSP review will now be required at the TPC? For most families, this meeting is heavily focused on meeting with the school district and answering questions about transition. Adding a requirement to review the IFSP takes away from the SC just being present to support the family and answer questions and will lead to poor quality IFSP reviews rushed at the end of the meeting.

If the goal of adding an IFSP review to the TPC is that the meeting is completed at a regularly scheduled review, please note that most school districts are not willing to meet much earlier than the 33 month due date as the TPC starts their timelines for completing evaluations, etc. Is this something that has been considered?

Please clarify the new transition steps and activities tab in EIDS. What type of things should be entered here? Is this completed at the transition outcome or the TPC?

TPCs were previously a requirement for all families. It looks like it is now an option under new rule. Is this correct?

Your Questions

EI-07: Both this form and EIDS now use the language asking if the parent gives consent to a TPC. Our understanding is that EVERY child has a transition planning conference. Aren't SCs required to do transition planning for all children even if the family does not want to invite the LEA? When is an example of when a parent can opt out of transition planning?

EI-07: It appears this consent gives permission for the child's information to go on the LEA report. Is there a timeframe in which this consent can/must be completed?

Poll
Time

How must the team proceed if the LEA cannot attend the TPC?

- A. Hold the TPC without the LEA.
- B. Wait until the LEA is available to meet.
- C. Do not hold a TPC, but identify a transition outcome and steps/activities to meet the outcome.
